

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE:
COOPERATION BETWEEN HEI AND BUSINESSES – WHY DO WE NEED TO COOPERATE?
UNIVERSITY BUSINESS COOPERATION, EMPLOYABILITY & HIGHER EDUCATION POLICY
Ljubljana 25. 10. 2013

Slovene National Agency for Lifelong Learning Programme is planning to hold a conference titled: »COOPERATION BETWEEN HEI AND BUSINESSES – WHY DO WE NEED TO COOPERATE?“. The Conference will be held in Ljubljana on October 25th 2013.

The event will bring together academics, policy makers and international experts to share experiences and good practices in the initiatives and interventions on how can Higher Education institutions develop academic programs that will give students the knowledge and skills that today's job market demands and what can they offer them to support their preparation for the future life. Existing data and surveys show that there is a need for action by universities, employers, students and government to address both the reality and perception of the skills deficit in our graduates. In this respect we must improve the dialogue between the Education sector and the "market-place" through cooperation between Higher Education and business in order to shape the curricula and skills required for success.

The conference will be of benefit to all Higher Educational academic and professional staff (not only those directly involved in students' career development processes), as well as policy makers and other stakeholders.
