(wheelchair access is limited due to the geography of the site. Hiking boots and rain coats strongly recommended)

Pedagogically, visiting the hill by the school evokes all phases of the war (warfare, positional warfare, technological changes, arrival of the Americans). But also, this allows highlighting the place of the soldier in the conflict, the implementation of total war, the brutalization of bodies and minds. Finally, Vauquois is an alternative to the case study of Verdun which is performed in the framework of the third class in History and Geography.
